Portability Definitions

Transfer

– Movement of assets from one account to another in which both accounts are considered to be like plans. This type of transaction does not generate any tax reporting to the IRS and is therefore nontaxable. If the assets are changing custodians, the receiving custodian will need to sign a letter of acceptance accepting custodial responsibility of the account.

Rollover

– Movement of assets from one account to another. This type of transaction generates a 1099-R on the delivering side and a 5498 on the receiving side for IRAs. The event may be nontaxable if it is done properly and within 60 days.

Conversion

– Movement of assets from an eligible qualified plan or IRA to a Roth IRA. This type of transaction generates a 1099-R on the delivering side and a 5498 on the receiving side. This is generally a taxable event.

Recharacterization

– Movement of assets from one account into another account to undo a previous transaction. This transaction is most common from a Roth IRA to an eligible IRA to undo a Roth conversion. Transaction will generate a 1099-R on the delivering side and a 5498 on the receiving side. A conversion from a Traditional IRA to a Roth IRA made after December 31, 2017 cannot be recharacterized.

- IRA contributions are fully deductible if neither you nor your spouse participates in an employer-sponsored retirement plan such as 401(k), 403(b), or pension plan.
- Deductibility is limited if you or your spouse participates in an employer-sponsored retirement plan. Refer to the chart below to determine if your modified adjusted gross income affects the amount of your deduction.

Filing Status	Modified Adjusted Gross Income	Allowable Deduction
Single or Head of Household	$65,000 or less	A full deduction up to the amount of your contribution limit
	More than $65,000 but less than $75,000	A partial deduction
	$75,000 or more	No deduction
Married Filing Jointly or Qualifying Widow(er)	$104,000 or less	A full deduction up to the amount of your contribution limit

	$10,000 or more	No deduction

If you file separately and did not live with your spouse at any time during the year, your IRA deduction is determined under the "Single" filing status.

This chart is designed to give you a basic overview of IRA deductions. LPL Financial recommends you consult with a qualified tax advisor before making IRA decisions.
